I created a web application project in class – both front and backend. That project is a platform for sharing unused pkp tickets.

A little more

Creating websites is my undisguised passion and that is what I am going to do in my live. I carried out many of my own unpublished projects (just for traing purposes). All the time I want to develop and gain as many knowledge as I can. I hope that I will have the opportunity to spread my wings with you.
